

Pre-shipment inspection (PSI)

Ensure the compliance of your products with quality and safety standards, technical regulations and contractual agreements

Assure the quality, minimize the risks and be certain that your products meet all the relevant requirements is an important job that should be performed during all the process of manufacturing. Furthermore, control the last stage of the activity is important to ensure the compliance of all the customer specific and mandatory requirements, including product dimension, quality and reliability.

Our solution:

Applus+ helps you to ensure the quantity, quality, marking and packing of your products at the last stage of production, assuring that all the relevant requirements and standards are met and the contractual agreements are performed when at least 80% of the products are finished and packed.

Our services include, but are not limited to;

- Visual Randomly inspection of the quality of product before shipment
- Documentation review
- Witness and functional tests
- Sampling measuring and testing
- Dimensional Check
- Randomly function checking of the product before shipment
- Packing and marking checking

As a leading inspection company, we provide services in all Mainland China through the highest qualified and professional personnel. We have China based testing facilities and permanent teams located in main China regions. Our inspectors will report to you in a daily basis, issuing the final reports in 48 hours.

Benefits:

- Early involvement in project development
- Multicultural and highly qualified inspectors
- Fast and flexible reporting.